

Ph.D. ADVISORY COMMITTEE MEETING REPORT

In accordance with the policies of the Department of Biology, the advisory committee (consisting of the advisor(s), three other faculty members, and a senior doctoral graduate student) will meet with the student during the second semester of the first year, by which time the student should have begun to define the research topic. This meeting is intended to review constructively the student's background in the proposed area and the development of research plans. The committee will revise the projected course program for the student. A report of this meeting will be filed by the advisor with the Graduate Office.
